

Abstract

Improved gingival retraction devices having a structural backing component which transmits simultaneous circumferential vertical forces to insert gingival retraction material into the gingival crevice.